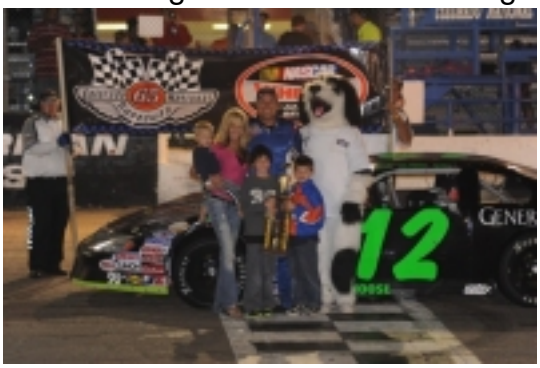
(08-18-2012 Dacono, CO) Greeley Colorado's Bruce "the moose" Yackey won his 4th straight Gillett Vet Late Model main event dominating the field and extending his season championship points lead in the process.



Gillett Vet Late Models Bruce Yackey has been the car to beat in the Late Model division ever since the halfway point in the season and he proved once again that 2012 might just be the year of "the moose". Yackey started the main event in the 3rd row yet by lap 13 Bruce had grabbed the lead by passing #84 Matt Zwingleberg and #74 Dan Savage in one swoop. From there Bruce never looked back winning his 4th straight Late Model feature event. The only challenge to Yackey's win came from last years champ #74 Dan Savage who tried the outside on Yackey after a late race double-file restart. Savage pressured Yackey for a lap or two but Yackey stayed smooth and eventually built back up a large lead over the field. Behind Yackey and Savage, #66 Darren Bucklan, #11 Darren Robertson, #33 Emett Grazier, #84 Matt Zwingleberg, #7 Adam Deines, and #27 Roger Avants were all battling for position and thrilling the fans. As the race neared the conclusion it appeared as if the fastest car on the track might have been the black and yellow #11 of Darren Robertson as he moved his way into 4th and began to push hard for 3rd spot from #22 Chris Eggleston. Yackey cruised to the win but all eyes were on the finish for 2nd place as Savage, Eggleston, and Robertson crossed the line 3 abreast, and just inches apart. Rounding out the top 5 was #39 of Jack Nugent. FA

Snap-On Tools Pro Trucks #27 Roger Avants led the first half of the Pro Truck main event and it appeared that this race might go flag to flag without a caution as all the drivers were settling into their own groove. Yet nothing could prepare the CNS fans for what they were about to see next as several trucks jostled for position and the #0 "the painter" Billy Harkins who had nowhere to go climbed up over the front of another truck and then proceeded to barrel roll down the front straightaway. Harkins truck flipped three times and sailed high into the air on the final rotation. To the relief of the crowd Billy jumped out of the mangled Pro Truck and waved to the CNS fans. After the cleanup and the race resumed Avants piloted to the win. A late race surge by #31 Justin Simonson was enough to take 2nd place and the #07 of Chris Leaf came in 3rd.
